BRITISH LOSSES

Casualty List One-Third Larg er Than Previous Week.

LONDON, April 20.-British casualties reported during the week ending oday totalled 12,368, divided as folcers 575; men 1,639.

Wounded of missing: Officers 2,173; men 7,981.

The casualties reported for this week Although heavy fighting has now been progress a month, however, the lists save not begun to approach in size those of last year in the months of active operations when the British were on the offensive. There is no means of determining how far the casualties now eing reported represent loss in the ighting since the German offensive was started. In the several weeks preceding last week, however, when 8.129 names were listed, the totals had been running no higher than between 3,000 and 4,000.

Ohe Attack a Failure. In a sharp local engagement at Ries du Vinage this morning from the di-rection of Pacaut wood the enemy over-ran the British outposts but was driven back to the wood.

In the Arras region there was more activity yesterday and last night. The British advanced their line slightly on a 1,500-yard front east of Beaurians and repulsed a German counter-attack, Later, however, the British withdrew to their original line.

Southward in the ridge zone about Kemmel it seems probable that the enemy has paused to organize a more careful scheme of assault than he has employed to the last few days of costly fighting.

No Preparations Made.

For some time the Germans have been pushing one attack after another against Kemmel in order to catch the British before they could get up reinforcements and the infantry has been sent forward without the usual methodical preparation for a drive.

Foe Beaten Back South of Lys

Field Marshal Haig's troops took the aggressive last night on the southern side of the Lys battle front with quick and decisive results. They compelled the Germans to give up the small bits of are approximately half as large again ground in the Givenchy-Festubert sector, as those reported in the preceding week, which were all the enemy had to show for his costly all-day attacks of Thursday on this front.

The British counter-blow resulted in the attainment of all the objectives sought and in the complete re-establishment of the British line as it existed before the Germans struck on Thursday. Only One Foe Blow Struck.

The only offensive action on the German side reported from the British front was in the Robecq region, near the westerly tip of the Lys salient, west of Merville. The enemy met no success in this local operation, the British driving back to his positions.

There is possible significance in raid-is operations carried out by the British south along the line below the Scarpe iver, just to the southeast of Arras. Apparently it was a feelin cont operation, o develop what forces the Germans have ready for an attack in this region.
